Hearing Date: January 12, 2021
Decision Date: January 12, 2021
Applicants: RR & B Up North LLP (Paul Stangel)
Property: 3895 Snake Island Road / 020-65-00018

Description of variance requested:

RR & B Up North LLP (Paul Stangel) petitions for a variance from Section 4.3(1)(a) of the floodplain ordinance which requires fill extend at least 15’ beyond a structure and Sections IV.B.2.b and IV.B.2.c.2) of the shoreland ordinance which require ordinary high water mark (OHWM) setbacks for accessory structures of 75’ and 35’ for principal structures. The petitioner proposes to relocate the existing residence and deck. Portions of the required fill will extend only 6’ from the east & south sides of the residence, and 5.5’ from the north side. Three retaining walls to hold fill will be located as close as 49’, 26’, & 9’ from the Green Bay OHWM. Also, the portion of the relocated home and deck outside the existing footprint will be as close as 20.5’ from the OHWM. The property is at 3895 Snake Island Rd.

DECISION:

On the basis of the Decision-Making Worksheet (attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference as if set forth in full) and the record in this matter the Board of Adjustment finds and determines that:

A. The requested variance does meet the criteria set forth in Section 59.694(7) Wisconsin Statutes.
B. The requested variance also meets the criteria set forth in Section 7.3(4) (Variance) of the Door County Floodplain Zoning Ordinance.

The Board of Adjustment voted to grant the petition for grant of variance by the following vote:

DOOR COUNTY BOARD OF ADJUSTMENT
DECISION-MAKING WORKSHEET

APPLICANTS NAMES: RR & B Up North LLP (Paul Stangel)

PROPERTY ADDRESS / P.I.N.s: 3895 Snake Island Road / 028-65-00018

HEARING DATE: January 12, 2021

To grant an area variance, all three of the standards enumerated below must be met. In addressing each standard, express the reasons for the decision, i.e., why the facts did or did not satisfy the standards, the weight and credibility of the evidence presented (or lack thereof), and any other relevant considerations.

1. UNIQUE PHYSICAL PROPERTY LIMITATIONS.
   Are there unique physical property limitations such as steep slopes, wetlands, or parcel shape that prevent compliance with the ordinance? The circumstances of an applicant (growing family, need for a larger garage, etc.) are not factors in deciding variances. Property limitations that prevent ordinance compliance and are common to a number of properties should be addressed by amending the ordinance. The variance is not warranted if the physical character of the property allows a landowner to develop or build in compliance with the zoning ordinance.

   In order for a variance to satisfy the unique physical property limitation test, the question below must be answered affirmatively.

   Does this property contain unique physical property limitations (e.g., wetland presence, parcel shape, steep slope, etc.) that would prevent compliance with the ordinance?
   YES [x] NO ________

   EXPLAIN: Small grandfathered lot, required setback from the ordinary high water mark, and location of town road right-of-way prevent compliance with ordinance requirements. Lot is lower than town road and seawall.

2. UNNECESSARY HARDSHIP.
   Unnecessary hardship exists when a literal enforcement of the ordinance would unreasonably prevent the owner from using the property for a permitted purpose or when conformity with ordinance standards would be unnecessarily burdensome.

   Considerations:
   - Unnecessary hardship should be determined in light of the purpose and intent of the zoning ordinance in question, as well as any statute or administrative rule upon which the ordinance is based. (See page 4.) The facts of the case should be analyzed in light of these purposes. Only after considering the purpose(s) of the statute and/or ordinance, and the nature of the specific restriction(s) at issue, may a decision be made as to whether or not failure to grant a variance will cause an unnecessary hardship.
   - Unnecessary hardship may arise due to a unique property limitation of a parcel (see #1, above). A variance is not warranted if the physical character of the property allows a landowner to develop or build in compliance with the zoning ordinance.
• Unnecessary hardship does not include considerations personal to the property owner (e.g., personal preference, desire to maximizing the economic value of the property, or financial hardship caused by ordinance compliance).
• Any self-created hardship, and/or any hardship that existed irrespective of the zoning ordinance in question are not proper grounds upon which to grant a variance.
• Alternatives to a variance (e.g., conditional use permit or restrictive covenant) may, as neither runs with the land, be preferable to accommodate a disability of the owner or owner’s dependent.

In order for a variance to satisfy the unnecessary hardship test, one of the questions below (A or B) must be answered affirmatively.

A. Does denial of the variance -- i.e., requiring compliance with the strict letter of the ordinance provision(s) in question (e.g., setbacks, height limitations, etc.) -- unreasonably prevent the owner from using the property for a permitted purpose?

YES ☒ NO _______

EXPLAIN: Small grandfathered lot, required setback from ordinary high water mark, location of town road right-of-way prevent compliance with ordinance requirements. Due to current flooding, the property would remain unsafe, and in all likelihood become uninhabitable without the granting of a variance. The granting of the variance will enable the owner to continue to use the existing residential structure on the property.

OR

B. Is conformity with the regulation(s) unnecessarily burdensome?

YES ______ NO _______

EXPLAIN:

3. PUBLIC INTEREST/SPRIT AND INTENT OF THE ORDINANCE.

A variance may not be granted which results in harm to public interests, nor thwarts the spirit and intent of the ordinance. In applying this test, the board should review the purpose statements of the ordinance (and any statute or administrative rule upon which the ordinance is based) in order to identify public interests. (See page 4.) The short-term and long-term impacts of the proposal and the cumulative impacts of similar projects on the interests of the neighbors, the community, and even the state, should be considered. Review should focus on the general public interest, rather than just the narrow interests or impacts on neighbors, patrons, or residents in the vicinity of the project.

Cumulative effects are a proper consideration. For instance, in the context of shoreland zoning, the general availability of variances permitting the horizontal expansion of structures so close to the water’s edge may have the cumulative effect of enclosing our lakes within a wall of impermeable surfaces to the exclusion of vegetation and impairing the ecological functions of the shoreland buffer.

A variance is not a popularity contest. The mere fact of public support or opposition is not, in and of itself, determinative of whether or not a variance is contrary to the public interest.

The board may grant only the minimum variance needed, i.e., the minimum variance necessary to relieve the unnecessary hardship. For instance, if the request is for a variance of 30 feet from the minimum setback, and a finding is made that a 10-foot setback reduction would allow the petitioner to use the property for a permitted purpose, then only a 10-foot setback reduction may be authorized.

Distinguish between hardships that are unnecessary in light of the unique conditions of the property and the purpose of the zoning ordinance from hardships that are inconsequential or not unique or because a variance would unduly undermine the purpose of the ordinance or the public interest.

In order for a variance to satisfy the public interest test, the question below must be answered negatively.

Does the granting of the variance result in harm to the public interest?

YES ______ NO X

EXPLAIN: The granting of the variance will allow the property owner to move the structure out of the town road right-of-way. It has been shown that the project will not negatively affect the surrounding area. The project will promote planned and orderly land use development and will protect property values and the property tax base. The project is not out of character with other buildings in the area. The project will advance uses of land in accordance with its character and suitability. The project will aid in implementing the county development plan. The granting of the variance will enable the owner to save the existing structure. This will have a positive impact on the neighborhood.

Has the applicant seeking a variance demonstrated that each of the three standards has been satisfied in this case? YES X NO ______. If yes, then substantial justice will be done by granting the variance.

The privileges granted by this decision shall become void after one year unless the property owner obtains the appropriate zoning permits within such time.

Wisconsin Statutes Purpose Statement

281.31. Navigable waters protection law
"(1) To aid in the fulfillment of the state's role as trustee of its navigable waters and to promote public health, safety, convenience and general welfare, it is declared to be in the public interest to make studies, establish policies, make plans and authorize municipal shoreland zoning regulations for the efficient use, conservation, development and protection of this state's water resources. The regulations shall relate to lands under, abutting or lying close to navigable waters. (Emphasis added.)

Examples as to how to use the above in conjunction with analysis of a variance request

When considering a variance request to relax the required ordinary high water mark setback, county zoning ordinance purposes (8), (10), (11), and (13) are likely relevant to consider. Purposes (2), (3), (4), and (5) may also be relevant. Depending upon the nature of the variance request, any of the components of the statutory purposes behind shoreland zoning (above) may be relevant to consider.

When considering a variance request to relax a required yard (setback), county zoning ordinance purposes (2), (3), (4), and (5) are likely relevant to consider.
